NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL

Life Insurance

COMPANY:

OF BOSTON.

INCORPORATED, 1835. ASSETS, $9,000,000.

The only Company on the Pacific Coast governed by the MASSACHUSETTS NON-FORFEITURE LAW.

That there is absolutely no forfeiture in this Company these examples, furnish sufficient proof:

A. C. E. Miller, of Portland, Oregon, insured under Policy No. 13,054, for $5,000, died over six months after the premium was due and unpaid. The $5,000 was promptly paid the widow, less the unpaid premium.

J. W. Jones, of Colusa, Cal., insured under Policy No. 33,016, for $10,000, died over four months after the premium was due and unpaid. The $10,000 was promptly paid the widow, less the unpaid premium.

Is it not an object for you to insure in a Company where your policy is protected by such a wise and equitable law?

☞ This Company is not restricted to investing its funds in Massachusetts. The funds are invested in the best securities, where the largest interest is obtainable. Thus it has been enabled to return as dividends to the policy holders, in cash, during the last four years, $2,466,109 00. Dividends payable annually in cash. EVERSON & MIDDLEMISS,

Barbara Claxton's Love.

It was in the reign of Edward the Third, and at a period of temporary rebellion against the monarch and his valiant son, the Prince of Wales, that our tale opens.

The scene was a beautiful picturesque part of the country in Berkshire; and the charming Barbara Claxton—the dreaming, enthusiastic child genius—sat beside her lonely cottage door, watching the shadows deepen and darken as twilight approached. Her reveries were disturbed by a stranger appearing in breathless haste.

"Hide me, damsel," he exclaimed, "for the love of heaven! Quick—my foes are approaching!"

"Follow me," she replied, "there is but one place wherein is the last vestige of security."

And she led him into the cottage, into an inner room, where prostrated on a bed of pain, lay an aged woman.

"I will lift up my grandmother," she said, hurriedly, "and you must get between the beds and underneath her. It will be very warm, but the only safe place. I do not think they will disturb her."

He did as he was ordered; the bed was spread down, and the old lady lay back on her pillow, unconscious of the scene which had just occurred. Barbara hastened back to the door, and sat down in her old place.

A moment later a party of horsemen approached. They stopped; and the leader gazed with a cynical eye upon the lovely maiden before him.

"Surround the cottage, my men," he ordered, and if he's here we will soon unearth him. Now, my dreaming lassie (addressing himself to the girl), have you seen anything of a stray?

She looked up shyly, the color fluctuating on her cheeks, as she returned, "A stray, sir?" in meek tone. "No sane man would stray hither."

"But he must be somewhere near here; and by your permission, rosebud, I will search your house," he observed.

"If you will only please, sir, to request your men to cease their noise. My poor grandmother is sick and dying."

The officer's heart, though stained by guilt and bloodshed, was tender where youth and beauty were the suppliants. He ordered his men to be quiet; and then entered with the trembling Barbara, who, though trying outwardly to appear calm and unconcerned, was inwardly thrilling with apprehension. What if he should find the fugitive? She knew only too well the blood-thirsty ruffians would instantly kill her on the spot, or, perhaps, reserve her for a fate worse than death.

When he entered, the officer cast a quick, searching glance around him. There were but two rooms to the cottage, and he could see through the loose boards above that no one was hidden in the loft.

"Will you have a draught of ale, sir?" she asked, pouring some of the fermented beverage into a pewter mug.

He took it eagerly and quaffed it, and then passed into the inner room. The old grandame was muttering deliriously, having been aroused by the strange noise outside. He went over to her, looked at her for an instant, and said: "She'll be dead soon, and you'll have to come to me, pretty lass."

Barbara bowed low.

"You are too kind, sir," she said, "to one so humble."

"Give me a kiss, my lass!" he exclaimed, his rude eyes riveted upon her; "for I must hurry from here before that wretch gets too far in advance."

"No, no!" she cried, "no, no, sir!"

But he hurried after her.

"I will not be put aside by a pretty one; I have no time to fool. You are only too coy," and he grasped the struggling maiden in his arms, and kissed her over and over, despite her violent resistance. "I will come again another day, my pretty sweetheart," he laughed as he released her and passed out.

Trembling with shame and indignation she stood where he had left her until she heard the retreating clatter of the horses' hoofs. Rousing herself she went to the door, and found there was no one in sight; she then returned to the room, closing the outer door behind her, raised the invalid and allowed the stranger to escape from his prison.

"My poor girl" (and his face flushed) "I know not what to say," as his eyes fell upon her crimsoned, tear-stained countenance. "You have saved my life, and I was powerless to protect you from insult. You shall worthily be repaid by—the one whom you have rescued, when better days come."

He pitied her agitation; he sympathized with the beautiful, heroic maiden; and a feeling that he had never known for any living being before stole into his heart.

"Can I tax your kindness," he asked, "by begging that I may be allowed to remain here until it is safe for me to venture abroad? If I go now this will prove to be only a respite. Have you a father? Could you disguise me?

The flush died out of her face as she reflected how to save her strange guest. There was something about him which made her feel instinctively that she could trust him and interested her in his fate.

"No, my father is dead; we are all there are left," pointing to the emaciated form in the bed." "But I will give you my father's clothes. You can dress in them, and I will say you are my uncle from Yorkshire."

He readily fell into her plans; and she placing a bundle before him retired into the room. When she emerged she could scarcely recognize in the bowed decrepid old man, with a silvery wig, the handsome, manly, youthful stranger of a few minutes before.

Days passed, and still the stranger tarried at the cottage. He was delighted with Barbara's well informed mind, and wondering how she had obtained so much knowledge in that secluded country district. But it seemed that her mother had been much better educated than the majority of her sex, and had taken great pains with her daughter before she died; and Barbara, being of an intelligent turn of mind, had thought and read much since.

Days lengthened into weeks and a warmer feeling than that of friendship sprung up between them. As yet he had not mentioned by what title of rank he was known.

"I must leave you now, sweetheart," he said, throwing himself down beside her one day; "but I cannot go away content until you give me the right to return. Will you, Barbara, my love, my life, come to the church," he pleaded, "and let the priest solemnize our vows, and I will depart happy? Will you, Barbara, dearest?"

What could she say? She had risked her life for him once—she would willingly sacrifice all now. Led on by his words she could not resist him, but blindly, devotedly followed him to the altar.

What he had whispered to the priest ere the nuptial ceremony took place did not catch her ear.

"You will not doubt my love, my sweetheart," he said, "because I have not yet revealed my rank? When I come again I will come as one worthy for you to receive."

He kissed her pale cheeks and quivering lips over and over again as he left her, and turned his back to the little cottage.

Months passed by before she ever heard from her lover husband, and she feared he must have fallen into the hands of his foes.

He came at last, a star glittering on his breast and his array kingly. Her heart fell within her as he hastened to her with outstretched arms.

"Barbara, my love," he cried, "folding her to his breast, "I have come at last! But why do you shrink? Are you not my own true love still?"

"And you are ——" she queried.

"Edward to you; to the world the Prince of Wales, the heir to the throne," he said. "But why do you look so pale? I have made up my mind to forsake all for you, dearest."

"All England knows of your approaching marriage."

"I will not have her," he ejaculated. "I will resign all pretensions to the throne and fly with you."

For a moment the bliss of being once more within the arms of her beloved intoxicated her senses; but then her resolution was taken.

"My lord, your ——"

"Hush, Barbara!" and he placed his finger on her lip. "I cannot have so much formality from your lips. I am still only Edward you saved and loved."

"Then, my beloved," she cried, "you cannot, do not doubt the fullness of my love—that love would only too gladly this moment give my life to preserve yours."

"I do not doubt it, my sweetheart," he returned.

"Then, oh believe what I say is only prompted by that love. You must leave me, my life; you must go back to your father's palace and obey his commands. Our secret shall be faithfully locked in my breast; my last breath shall be drawn in supplicating a blessing for my Prince—my King."

"Never!" he exclaimed, gazing on the slight, exquisite form of his beloved, that was even now perceptibly trembling with emotion.

"But it must be so. Edward, my love, listen! Go—go to a happy future; do not blight your own precious life as well as mine. Go, and then in after days you will think upon and bless the love of Barbara Claxton."

He was silent for a moment; her words fell with full force upon his heart she spoke the truth; but the struggle was too great to endure quietly and he wept like a child.

"Your wisdom is greater than mine, Barbara," he cried in a hoarse voice; "you are more worthy of rubies than I. Oh, cursed fate that divides the peasant from the Prince. Barbara, be merciful!"

"I am merciful, my life!" she cried, her cheeks glowing with passionate love; "more merciful to you than you are to yourself. Do you not know that this renunciation is costing more than my life? Go, be happy, be brave, be good, be great—and sometimes think of your Barbara Claxton."

He tarried until his horse chafed with restlessness, and his servants became impatient.

"I accept my destiny," he said, bowing his head; "you have prevailed. I live no longer for myself, but for my people. God bless you forever, and when you need a friend come to Edward."

Her emotion was equal to his own, and she turned away and wept unrestrainedly. She had given her all up freely.

Time passed. Often news of the Black Prince's prowess fell upon her listening ears; she never heard his name but it was linked with bravery or with goodness; the nation revered him.

The old grandame died. Barbara, whose beauty became each day more striking, was left alone. She sent a petition to the Prince:

"A cousin of mine, a friendless, forsaken, craves a situation as page, messenger, or in some post near your Highness. In remembrance of the past, I pray, grant this request of your faithful "BARBARA CLAXTON."

Perhaps Edward divined her meaning; perhaps it was only olden memories that shook him; but he trembled strangely as he dictated the following and signed it with his own hand:

"In memory of the brave Barbara Claxton the Prince grants her request. Let her cousin come immediately."

The next day a youth of most graceful symmetry was ushered in, dropped on one knee before the Black Prince. He looked for an instant on the beautiful contour of the noble face, the black, clustering curls, and the gray, lovely, dreamy eyes, shadowed by their heavy lashes, and sighed.

"Rise; the Prince is thy friend," he said, in unsteady voice, as he laid his hand upon the bowed head.

The touch thrilled him through like a magnetic shock.

"I go to the wars," he continued. "I must leave you behind me."

"No, no!" cried the youth impulsively. "Let me go with your Highness. I can endure hardship, brave danger—sell my life, if need be—only let me go."

How could he resist? The memory of the past was strong within him.

"You shall go," he said kindly. "And if you repent, you shall return here."

Ever after that, the youth was the brave Prince's shadow. He followed him through danger and through victory. Ever near, ever sad, never smiling. Oft the Prince tried to turn his thoughts to something that would cheer him, but everything failed. He grew more delicate, more softly beautiful, each day; but it was in vain the Prince urged him to return to the palace and await his return home.

"My place is by your side, my Prince," he would return, 'and my only happiness is there. Surely you would not deprive me of that?"

At last, just as the Prince's army had gained a great victory over the French, one of the retreating foe turned deliberately, took aim at the Prince, and then fired. His page saw it, and interposed before the Prince, and received the arrow in his own breast. He fell backward into his master's arms, looked into his eyes with a smile, as the life blood streamed down his breast and murmured, "I die happy! Oh, my beloved, remember that Barbara Claxton has given her life for thee!"

"Barbara, my Barbara!" he cried, holding her in a close embrace; "would I had died for thee!"

The weary eyelids closed; there was a faint fluttering of her breath, a smile, which remained after death, and she was dead. The Prince bathed her face in tears, and his attendants said: "See how strong is his affection for that youth!"

He returned to England, but his health began perceptibly to fail; the same arrow which pierced poor, faithful Barbara Claxton's heart had reached his own, in a different way. He sank, declined, faded away in 1376. The nation was in mourning for the good Prince, for all loved him for his unsullied purity, and England missed having one of the best and purest of monarchs to sit on her throne.

The Old Doctrine.

"State Sovereignty," the party shibboleth of the great Douglas, like "State Rights," is most derided when least understood. It has become popular to make light of these great watchwords of statesmen whose fame is part of the glory of our common country. Men speak derisively about "the exploded doctrine of State Rights," unmindful that Henry, and Lee, and Jefferson, and Madison, and Randolph, and Samuel Adams, and a host of other intellectual giants, the greatest of their day, cherished and battled for the principles they so flippantly condemn. It was their life-dream of liberty—the ark of safety for the Republic of States. The slavish sentiments which prevail at this hour could never find a lodgment in their breasts. They believed in the rights of the States and were jealous of the Federal Government. "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States respectively, or to the people." So said the fathers of the Republic, and it is embodied in the Constitution itself. "The several States comprising the United States are not united on the principle of unlimited submission to the General Government." This is the language of Thomas Jefferson, the patriot, philosopher, statesman and Democrat. What do the men of 1870 think of it, with the broad shadow of a gigantic mongrel despotism resting upon this once free and happy land?

State Sovereignty, supported with the names of Calhoun, Jackson, Hayne, Benton, Douglas, Cass, Pierce, and numerous others among the bright constellation of that day, is daily reviled and ridiculed by the veriest tyros in the science of politics. "In America the powers of sovereignty are divided between the Government of the Union and those of the States. They are each sovereign with regard to the objects committed to the other." Here is the doctrine of a dual sovereignty from the Supreme Court of the United States, before political parties dared to talk about reconstructing that tributary to serve their own purposes. Yet well meaning men, who ought to know better, engage in senseless clamor against State Rights and State Sovereignty. Let them remember that this was the grand idea of the statesmen and patriots of the glorious past, when the American Republic challenged the admiration of the civilized world.—Sonoma Democrat.

FUNERAL OF CHARLES DICKENS.—The following is the telegraphic account of the funeral of this truly eminent literary character: At six this morning the remains of Charles Dickens were conveyed from his residence at Gadshill by a train to Charing Cross station, and there placed on a hearse. In the first coach were his children, Charles and Harry, Miss Dickens and Mr. Chas. Collins; in the second were Miss Hogarth, sister-in-law, and Mrs. Austin, sister of Dickens; Mrs. Charles Dickens, Jr., and John Forster; in the third coach were Frank Beard, Charles Collins, Mr. Mowery, Wilkie Collins and Edmond Dickens. The entire party were attired in deep but simple mourning. There was a crowd at Charing Cross, and the procession proceeded at once to Westminster Abbey, where the remains were received by Rev. Dean Stanley and other officials, and placed in the poets' corner, at the foot of Handel and at the head of Sheridan, with Macauley and Cumberland on either side. The usual flowers were strewn upon the bier. Dean Stanley read the burial service, after which the coffin was deposited in the final resting place, and the funeral of Dickens ended. Upon the coffin were inscribed the words: 'Charles Dickens, born Feb. 7, 1812; died June 9, 1870.' Thousands crowded to Westminster Abbey during the day."

TRAGIC DEATH OF THE ANCIENT OF DAYS.—A few days ago, the San José cars ran over and killed Juan Diego, an old Mission Dolores Indian, one hundred and seventeen years old. He was one of the old Padres' catechumens, and about seventy-five years ago lost an arm in defence of the Holy Church. Ever since he has lived in the vicinity of what is now the Seventeen Mile House, and since the dawn of civilization has been a privileged character and a welcome guest among the settlers, carrying water for the women, tending their babies, and making himself generally useful. When it had been ascertained that poor old Diego, in his deafness and imbecility had been accidentally killed, and when some rough characters were about to rudely mangle his mangled remains, the Catholic women turned out en masse, took possession of the old man's lifeless body, procured the attendance of some friendly priests and buried him with all the ceremony and magnificence of the Church of Rome. We have never heard of an incident revealing more of the true spirit of devotion and humanity, and the ladies concerned have manifested the very highest impulses of Christian womanhood.—Figaro.

PASSENGER TRAFIC.—The travel over the Central Pacific Railroad, says the Alta, during the first five months of 1870, was as follows: Through passengers, from the East, 13,114; through passengers from San Francisco to the East 7,831. Of this number 4,062 arrived in May, and 2,738 departed in the same month. The travel by sea during the first five months of the year was as follows: Arrived in San Francisco, 10,214; departed, 4,751. This makes a total of 23,328 arrivals, and 12,582 departures—a gain in population to California of 10,746.

What the Father of His Country Ate for Dinner.

A correspondent of the New York World at West Point, June 9th, writes as follows:

A night or two since, by a curious accident, I came across the following letter in a book of American memorials:

WEST POINT, August 16th, 1870.

To Dr. Cochrane—Dear Doctor: I have asked Mrs. Cochrane and Mrs. Livingston to dine with me to-morrow; but ought I not to apprise them of their fare? As I hate deception, even when the imagination is concerned, I will. It is needless to premise that my table is large enough to hold the ladies; of this they had ocular proof yesterday. To say how it is usually covered is rather more essential, and this shall be the purport of my letter. Since our arrival at this happy spot we have had a ham (sometimes a shoulder) of bacon to grace the head of the table; a piece of roast beef adorns the foot, and a small dish of greens or beans (almost imperceptible) decorates the centre. When the cook has a mind to cut a figure (and this, I presume, he will attempt to do to-morrow), we have two beef pies or dishes of crabs, in addition, and on each side, the centre dish dividing the space and reducing the distance between dish and dish about six feet, which, without them, would be nearly twelve feet apart. Of late he has had the surprising luck to discover that apples will make pies, and it is a great question if, amidst the violence of his efforts, we do not get one of apples instead of both of beef. If the ladies will put up with such entertainments, and will submit to partake of it on plates, once tin but now iron, not become so by use of scouring, I shall be happy to see them. I am, dear Doctor, your obedient servant,

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Such was the not very epicurean dinner to which General Washington was able to invite Mrs. Livingston and Mrs. Cochrane at his headquarters on this spot ninety-one years ago. Doubtless such estimable guests were pleased enough to share it. But how different the delight of those ladies of the revolutionary period, dining on bacon and beans with the already exalted commander of the revolutionary army, from that day derived by fashionable ladies here from the privilege of cavilling at the cookery of all the luxuries of the season served up to them at the tables of fashionable hotels.

THE RECENT ELECTIONS.—There is now and then a Republican paper with sufficient candor to admit the truth of the charges made by the Democratic press of the country in regard to the dishonesty and incompetency of the managers of our national affairs. The following is an editorial from the Calaveras Chronicle, a Republican paper, and is especially commended to the attention of our Republican friends:

The result of the recent elections in Connecticut, New York and Oregon, is but a ripple on the surface of public sentiment that indicates the direction in which the tide of political opinion is setting. The people have lost confidence in the leaders of the Republican party, and the financial policy of the Administration does not meet the public approval. The Secretary of the Treasury appears anxious to liquidate the National indebtedness as soon as possible, without reference to the burdens which such a course imposes upon a people who have not recovered from the staggering blow inflicted by the war. The entire abrogation of the income and a wholesome reduction of the revenue tax, are imperatively demanded by the best interests of the country, and yet the Administration has paid no regard to the popular wish in that respect. The Republican party is too heavily weighted to win the race for political power. The Fifteenth Amendment is a greater incubus than the war record of the Democracy. The dogma of "universal brotherhood" may be acceptable as a principle of moral philosophy, but it has proven a sorry tenet when incorporated in political ethics. It is by its choice of leaders—in a measure, at least—that the Republican party has estranged itself from the popular favor. Such men as Butler, Sumner and Whittemore are not well calculated to inspire confidence or conduct a party to victory. It is principally to the efforts of such men to perpetuate their individual power, accredited with the leadership of the party, that the defeat of that organization is owing.

A LARGE WAR VESSEL.—The immense iron frigate Sultan, which has been in progress of construction in London for a long while, has been completed for service, and was launched recently. She was constructed for the Turkish Government, being the most powerful armor-clad broadside frigate ever built. She is five thousand tons burden, with most powerful propelling power, her engines being capable of exerting the strength of seven thousand horse power. A novelty in her arrangements is a battery-deck, which is built over-hanging upon the upper deck. Her armament is of the most formidable character. She mounts on the upper tier eight eighteen-ton four hundred pounders. The central main deck battery is composed of two twelve and a half ton three hundred pounders. Her beam and stern is pierced for two three hundred pounders, as chasers. Under the forecastle will be a battery comprising nine twenty-pounder Armstrong guns. This armament is the most formidable ever placed in any vessel of war, and the calibre of the principal guns of her battery has probably never been exceeded by the armament of any marine vessel. The gun carriages are of massive construction, and have been thoroughly tested. The Sultan will be got ready for sea service with rapidity.

CONGRESS is considering a bill to grant an annual subsidy of $150,000 for five years, and 1,000,000 for a second period of five years, to an American, semi-monthly line of steamers, to ply between New Orleans and Vera Cruz, touching at Havana and Tampico. There are five grantees, of whom three, W. R. Garrison, F. R. Baby, and J. C. McKibben, are Californians, and the two former are experienced steamboat men.

THAT was a profound philosopher who compared advertising to a growing crop. He said: "The farmer plants his seed, and while he is sleeping the corn is growing. So with advertising. While you are sleeping or eating, your advertisement is being read by thousands of persons who never saw you or heard of your business, nor never would had it not been for your advertising."

OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday, June 25th, 1870.

GOOD PRICE.—New wheat has been selling in Marysville at $1 72 per 100lbs.

REDUCTION OF FARE.—The railroad fare between San Francisco and New York has been reduced to $120, payable in currency.

FAVORS.—We acknowledge favors received from Congressmen Hon. James A. Johnson and Hon. Eugene Casserly.

THE UNIVERSITY.—PROF. D. C. GILLMAN, of the Yale College Scientific School, has been elected President of the California University.

GRAIN MARKET.—New wheat is arriving in this market freely and is taken as fast as it comes at $1 70 @ $1 72 per 100lbs. Barley is quoted at $1 10 per 100lbs.

HARBOR COMMISSIONER.—Governor Haight has appointed Washington Bartlett, Harbor Commissioner, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James H. Cutter.

CONVALESCENT.—J. F. Linthicum, editor of the Solano Democrat, has been ill for some time past, but we are pleased to find by last Saturday's paper that he is recovering.

CHANGE OF BASE.—W. A. SELKIRK, for the past two years editor of the Stockton Independent, has resigned his position to take charge of the Auburn Stars and Stripes.

FIRE IN PANAMA.—A fire occurred in Panama, June 5, which destroyed the Aspinwall Hotel, Bank of Panama, and a large number of other buildings.

MURDER TRIAL.—The trial of Neuval, in San Francisco, for the murder of Carrie Diamond, is creating a good deal of excitement. It will be some days yet before the testimony is concluded.

YOLO CANAL.—The Washington correspondent of the Union says "The Yolo Canal project for draining and reclaiming tule lands seems likely to succeed so far as Congressional action is concerned."

THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE.—The Senate has defeated the amendment to the Postal Appropriation bill providing for the abolition of the franking privilege. Senator Casserly was the only member from the Pacific coast who voted in favor of the amendment.

WHITTEMORE.—This man, who was convicted of bribery and compelled to resign his seat in Congress, has been re-elected by the negroes of South Carolina and sent back to Washington, but, to the surprise of everybody, and to the credit of Congress, he is denied readmission.

DESTRUCTION OF THE PESTS.—The Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa County have ordered the payment of bills amounting to $2,405 10 for squirrel and gopher scalps. There were killed in all, 672 gophers and 46,760 squirrels.

REVENUE RECEIPTS.—A Washington dispatch of a late date says the internal revenue receipts of the fiscal year to date are $175,543,883; coin in the Treasury to-day, $159,767,595; coin certificates, $24,094,000; currency balance, $1,556,933.

PAPER.—The San Francisco Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution authorizing the Mayor to offer a reward of $5,000 for information that will lead to the conviction of the parties who tampered with the balloting in the First Ward, at the recent railroad election.

SAFE.—The missing steamer, Henry Chauncey, of the California line, plying between Aspinwall and New York, broke her shaft when half an hour out from Aspinwall with the passengers by the Constitution, who left San Francisco May 18—and returned to port. She is safe.

RAILROAD OFFICE.—The California Pacific R. R. Co. has rented, on a lease of two years, an office in Duncan's building on California street, between Montgomery and Sansome. This is as the news comes to us, and if true, certainly does not look much like selling out, though many papers persist in stating that the road has been sold to the Central.

PRICES REDUCED.—The Alta California has at last been compelled to reduce its subscription price to twenty-five cents without the Sunday edition and thirty cents per week with it. The Bulletin, at three bits, is now reduced to two. The Sacramento Bee has announced a reduction from twenty-five to twelve and a half cents per week—very cheap for so good a paper.

OVERLAND FOR JULY.—We have only time to give the table of contents of this number, which is as follows: "My First Visit to Brook Farm;" "Joe of Lahaina;" "An Evening and a Morning in Colima;" "Sail Ho!;" "A Dark Night on Picket;" "The Donner Party;" "Through the Lower Coast Counties;" "Lumbering in Washington Territory;" "If Only;" "The Spectre Bull of Salinas;" "The Farmsley House;" "Sacramento Etchings;" "Yosemite on Foot;" "Dickens in Camp;" "Mr. Thompson's Prodigal;" "Etc.;" "Current Literature."

MONOPOLY ENDED.—The telegraph news monopoly of this coast is at last "busted." Heretofore the only papers that could obtain overland telegraph news were the Union, Bulletin and Alta, and latterly the Call. Now a new Association is in successful operation, so that nearly all the respectable daily papers in the State now give their readers, without any additional charge, full reports of all important Eastern, and even European news, of the previous day. We trust the enterprise displayed by the new Association will meet the reward it deserves.

SUNSTROKE.—Late Eastern dispatches mention cases of sunstroke in New York, Chicago and other cities where the weather of late has been intensely hot. Here in the Sacramento Valley it is warm enough for six or eight hours in the day, but we have yet to hear of a case of sunstroke in California. With the thermometer at ninety the air is not so oppressive as it is East at eighty degrees. Add to this the fact that in the very hottest part of the season we are invariably blessed with cool, refreshing evenings, nights and mornings, and what wonder that those who have ever lived in California are never after satisfied with any other clime.

OREGON.—The latest returns from Oregon are about as favorable for the Democracy as former reports. The Democats have a majority in the Legislature of 13 on joint ballot—9 in the House and 4 in the Senate. The dispatch also states that General Joe Lane is spoken of as a candidate for United States Senator. At any rate a Democrat will succeed Senator Williams, one of the most radical and unscrupulous of all the radical tribe. The opposition papers pretend to find comfort in the fact that the majority is less than at the last election. But they do not state that the negroes voted, numbering several thousand, for the first time, and of course voted for their pretended friends, the Republican candidates. Notwithstanding this fact, Radicalism in Oregon was routed by the invincible Democracy. This is another proof that truth is mighty and will prevail.

CHINESE CITIZENSHIP.

The question which now more than all others interests the people of this coast is, what shall be done with the Chinaman. The matter has been before Congress lately, and we are glad to find that even that body seems to be opposed to giving "John" the ballot. So the leaders of the dominant party denied their intention of endowing the negro with the elective franchise. Still, no sooner did a good opportunity offer than the ballot was thrust upon him. So it is likely to be with the Chinaman unless the people of the Pacific slope, irrespective of party, protest in thunder tones against so flagrant a degradation of the white race as to place them on the same level politically, as the negro, the Indian and the idol-worshipping Chinaman. We, of the Pacific States, see and realize the evils consequent upon the large population of the latter class already here and filling all the available channels of labor. Especially do laboring men feel that times are hard in consequence of the presence of so many thousands of these people. Endow them with the ballot and allow unrestricted immigration, and it will be but a short time before they will hold the political balance and really govern our State. A short time since a debate occurred in Congress on this question in which Mr. Fitch, of Nevada, took part. He was asked if the Chinese constituted the laboring element in California. He replied, "No, Sir, they do not; but they would constitute a very solid voting element, and which would vote all one way, according to agreement. I say the party which succeeded would need to pay in cash for these Chinese voters." Mr. Fitch proceeded to say:

"Do you think you can convert them to our religion or our civilization? You have been trying it for the last five hundred years; and Catholic and Protestant missionaries have labored in vain there, and they have had not the least effect upon these Chinese, who have been brought here and who have thus come into contact with the vices as well as the virtues of our civilization. You cannot make them conform to our institutions. You cannot attach them to the principles of the Constitution. They have a civilization of their own, older than ours, and in their opinion better than ours. They will not compare with us, as I have said, in muscle; but they will in cheapness and wretchedness of existence."

"I tell gentlemen of my party upon this floor, and I have never been anything else than a Republican—I was a Republican almost with the first political breath I drew, and by that party I expect to stand so long as it shall live—I ask my Republican friends to beware how they open the doors to these hordes from Asia, to beware how they vest them with citizenship, because they are a corrupt people, because they are destitute of all moral principle, because they are without self-respect, because they will not appreciate the privileges of citizenship, except so far as it will afford them opportunities to make a few dollars by the sale of their votes. I cannot look with complacency upon the prospect of Chinamen in the jury-box, of Chinamen upon the bench, of Chinamen holding the county offices, and of Chinamen dictating to our rulers, who will in many cases be placed in their positions by the Chinese votes which they have purchased. I ask my Republican friends not to perpetrate this act of folly. I ask them not to perpetrate this outrage upon the American people. I ask them not to strike down the last vestige of the Republican Party on the Pacific Coast."

Celebration on the Fourth.

Elsewhere will be seen the advertisement of the Committee of arrangements for the Fourth of July Celebration, which gives the programme as fully as it can be given at this time. We doubt not it will be participated in by all our fellow citizens, either here or at some other point. As there is to be a celebration at Davisville, that will naturally draw from the southern part of the County, but we expect to see such a crowd here in Woodland on the Fourth as was never seen here before. Come one, come all; let us celebrate in a fitting manner the aniversary of our country's independence. Let us hail the glorious day with glad rejoicings and make the welkin ring with shouts of patriotic joy. It will be seen that Judge Johnson will deliver the oration on the occasion, from the front door of Hesperian College, and the Declaration of Independence will be read by Professor G. N. Freeman. National salutes will be fired and good music be dispensed by the Woodland Brass Band. A fitting close to the day's proceedings will be a grand ball at Washington Hall, under the management of Professor J. M. Wood.

TIMELY EXPOSE.—The Washington correspondence of the Examiner contains the following in reference to the "stop thief" cry of the Radicals in order to cover from view their own gross corruptions. Mr. Schumacker is evidently after them, even to Grant himself, who seems to have received bribes enough to constitute him the head and front of the corruptionists:

Mr. Schumacker, of New York, made a most scathing expose of the frauds of the Radicals in New York. He gave names, dates and facts that will for a time, at least, stop the Radical cry of fraud. He charged that, for the past 12 years, there has not been a Radical Senator elected except by money. The biggest purse always won. In speaking of the influence of money he said: "Look at the other end of the avenue, at the head of the Republican party. Look at his first chosen Cabinet—A. T. Stewart, Secretary of the Treasury, gave $10,000; Washburne, Secretary of State, raised the money to buy Grant's Galena house; Borie, Secretary of the Navy, gave $10,000 towards buying Grant houses; Hoar, Attorney General, gave him a library; Fish, the present Secretary of State, gave $5,000 towards Grant's houses; Moses H. Grinnell, Collector of the Port of New York, gave liberally towards buying Grant houses. These facts are well known, and it ill becomes the supporters of this Administration to charge fraud and corruption upon the Democracy." What administration can live under such assaults?

ANOTHER GROUNDSWELL.—The Elko Independent of June 15th says: Idaho has gone Democratic, elected Sam Merritt Delegate to Congress by the usual majority of from eight hundred to nine hundred. Every county in the Territory heard from gives Democratic majorities on the general ticket with the exception of the Mormon county of Oneida, where there is said to be a tie vote. All the county officers elected, with a few scattering exceptions, are Democrats. Here and there a Republican runs in on some local issue, as Dryde McClintock, in Boise county, who is elected Sheriff over Crutcher; Prickett, in Ada county, who defeated Heed for County Attorney; G. Hays, who defeated O. H. Purdy for the Council, and A. Robertson, who defeated R. T. Miller for County Attorney in Owyhee county. The election of a Radical is such a rarity, they are so few and far between, that it gives them a prominence. Idaho continues overwhelmingly Democratic. It is, in fact, too strongly Democratic. Democrats must fight something, and when they cannot find a respectable enemy to get away with they too often commence breaking each other's heads.

San Francisco Correspondence.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.

BAYARD TAYLOR

Delivered a lecture at Rev. Dr. Scudder's church for the benefit of the California Rescue Society, which was organized for the purpose of reclaiming fallen women. Mr. Taylor's address was on his tour from Africa to the Arctic regions. In his pleasing conversational style he carried his audience from the burning sun and feathery palms of the tropics to the ice-bound regions of the Arctic, describing so graphically the cold countries of Lapland, Norway and Sweden, we could but feel an almost imperceptible chill dart through our frame, and imagine he spoke as if again experiencing that disagreeable sensation, cold. He depicted vividly the reign of the stern Ice King which froze the breath, enveloped in a perfect network of white, the hair and beard of travellers, making it necessary for them to keep a continual perpetual motion of the hands, feet, and even the eyelids, to prevent falling a prey to the torpor which ever precedes death by cold. He spoke of the magnificent landscape, in which bushes, shrubs, and all material objects become a petrified mass, resembling though rivalling everything imaginable, from the meshes of a lace curtain to the symmetry of a Corinthian column. At such seasons the sky is overcast with a gorgeous light, far surpassing in brilliancy the Aurora Borealis. The people of that latitude Mr. Taylor found open-hearted, perfectly unsophisticated and unused to the conventionalisms of civilization.

A SINGULAR INCIDENT.

Twelve years ago a New Hampshire factory girl married at an early age a man too poor to support her. Therefore she continued to work as before. When the wail of her first infant resounded through her dreary apartment she hailed it as a note of woe, a sad drawback to the life of labor she needs must lead. In her perplexity, her mother who was more affluent and had a babe nearly the same age, offered to relieve the mother of the responsibility of the child. An uncle of the little Rosa stood as her God-father, and her advent in her grandmother's household was one of joy. The uncle tried his luck unsuccessfully in this city, went back East for his mother's family, and by considerable importuning now his sisters consented to the entire guardianship of the child. Years sped on, rigid economy and perseverance wrought wonders in the house of the New Hampshireans, and the parents longed for the presence of her they had so gladly given away in the hour of adversity, and the father accordingly came to reclaim the wanderer. But alas! to his surprise and chagrin his daughter not only refused to go home with him, but laughed to scorn the supposed assumption of his claim, being kept in entire ignorance of her parentage. At last the aggrieved father returned, leaving Rosa, but bearing a message from her to her mother, "That sooner than give up the friends who had raised her for strangers she knew nothing of, she would bury herself in the bottom of the ocean."

LECTURES

Are so much the sensation of the day we can scarcely write without frequent allusion to this absorbing topic. Dr. Scott, one of our most popular ministers, is drawing large crowds from the theatres and other places of amusement to listen to his six series of lectures delivered at St. John's Presbyterian Church. Sunday evening, the 12th, he discoursed on "The Nature and Means of Self-Improvement." He said, quoting Solomon, "In all thy gettings get wisdom." Then aptly advised the best methods of acquiring knowledge, viz.: "To read good books, talk with and attend the lectures of enlightened men, from whom more information could be derived in an hour than from three weeks cursory reading. That popular sentiment in regard to light literature he deemed in a measure erroneous, as it was as necessary for the human mind (especially mature minds) to have relaxation in recreation, as for the system to require nourishment in palatable food. But of all books, the Bible contained the most valuable information, and to be versed in its teachings was an accomplishment all should desire.

SOME FOLKS DO.

Some men exercise the incontrovertible right of admiring their neighbors' wives and daughters more than their own carasposas. One specimen of the genus homo has allowed his affection to wane for his peerless wife, and almost hide itself completely in the greater light of a star of the first magnitude—a beautiful, though unsophisticated, young lady. The wife, bearing with the neglect and contumely of her husband till she could no longer endure silence, resolved to interfere with the flirtation in which he became daily more entangled. One evening after he had started on a pleasure ride with the young girl, the wife at a distance followed them. Tracing them to a resort of note, the wife had no difficulty in gaining access to the private parlor where the would-be lovers were having a nice time over wine and cake. The ill used wife walked in and calmly told the girl she thought the best thing she could do would be to ride back to the city and she could exercise her choice in escorts taking either herself or her husband. The girl preferred returning with the lady, who gave her into the custody of her fashionable mother, "To suspend her rides for the future unless her mother knew she was out." The husband has so completely reformed in an affectionate interest in his pretty wife, that he sometimes, like "the old woman on the king's highway, wonders "If this be I."

MARION.

UNITY OF FEELING.—It is not often that Ben. Butler says anything that calls forth the approval of the Democrats, either in or out of Congress. Such a thing, however, is possible, as will be seen by the following given in the Congressional proceedings:

Mr. Kelley (Rad., Pa.) moved to strike out all the sections and provisions relating to the income tax.

Mr. Butler (Rad., Mass.) said there were certainly two things on which the people were unanimous.

First, that there should be a reduction of taxation, and second, that there should be a reduction of officers. The income tax was certainly, in theory, one of the fairest of taxes, but the difficulty of it was that only the honest and conscientious men paid it and the rogues evaded it. Therefore the country demanded the abolition of the tax, and it must be abolished, or else the places that knew them would know most of them no more forever.

Mr. Cox (Dem., N. Y.)—Amen.

Mr. Randall (Dem., Pa.)—Heaven speed the day.

A WILLOW TWIG, a quarter of an inch in diameter, planted three years ago by George Hobson, of San Jose, in his front yard, is now a tree twenty-one and a half inches in diameter.

Letter from Shasta County.

FRENCH GULCH, SHASTA COUNTY, June 21st, 1870.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT: For fear of being forgotten I again assume the role of "our special."

The weather, which has during the last fortnight been quite blustering, seems now to have settled down into a steady reign of sunshine. Vegetation is looking very green and fresh, and "garden sass" is to be had almost for the asking. I have been paying a few days' visit in Shasta, and find in the aspect of that once busy town a sad commentary on the overgrowth of California, and a verification of the saying that Nature goes not by fits and starts. The only change I can see from former visits is the disappearance of an old shambles—death from premature old age. Shasta now has only one hope—the Oregon Railroad. It is kill or cure.

There is quite a little excitement here among the teamsters about the highway robbery committed between Red Bluff and Shasta. The victim carried the money—$2,700 in greenbacks—sowed up in the breast of his shirt, but acted in so indiscreet a manner as to cause a feeling of skepticism hereabouts as to the fact of the robbery. Franck & Co.'s team, from this place, passed the spot but twenty minutes before and observed nothing unusual.

I am in receipt of a letter from State Superintendent Fitzgerald, in which he speaks of the change of time in school elections from June to April. He writes: "The present incumbent holds over until April, 1871, in case of failure to elect on the last saturday of April of this year." I state this on account of a general misunderstanding that seems to have occurred. While I am on the subject of correspondence I will mention the receipt of a letter from Lieutenant-Governor Holden, expressing regret at not being able to attend our Woodland May-day picnic, when he "would have been pleased to impress on the minds of the rising generation their future duties as citizens of our noble Republic."

I am glad to see you advocating the institutions that belong to a live town—a celebration and a fire brigade. With the enterprise and energy now in your midst, Woodland cannot fail to become one of the first towns in the State. Let the experience of Nevada City and a dozen sister localities serve as a profitable lesson. Celebrations are quite general all through this section of the State. Shasta proposes to include a parade of "Fantastics," somewhat similar to the one contemplated at one time by the "Owls" (for further information see the Judge, G. S. O.)

It is gratifying to see the Chinese labor question looming up above the level of partisan discussion. I am led the more particularly to a fear of Chinese influence on our governmental affairs by an incident that has occurred since my last letter. There is now in San Quentin a Chinaman known by the name of "Young." He was sentenced by Judge Bush, of Shasta, to the State Prison for the term of seven years, he being found guilty of "assaulting and robbing a Chinawoman." The only witnesses were Ah Sing and Ah Tan, both cooks in this vicinity. Since the conviction these two have quarrelled, and now Sing allows the following story of this almost incredible affair to leak out: The two mentioned (Tan and Sing) bought a Chinawoman, in company, for commercial purposes. Young, who acted as a sort of claim broker in the Gulch, and speaks passably good English, got somewhat tipsy one night and acted rather boisterously and in a manner that excited the ire of Tang and Sing. The two "proprietors" determined to get their rival out of the way. A warrant was issued, and the victim arrested for intent to kill and robbery of $600. Tan was Court interpreter, and Young had no money. The programme was, of course, carried out; what the witnesses forgot to say was supplied, probably, by the interpreter, and Young found guilty of dragging a shrieking female out of her cabin into the open air and in sight of white habitations, and then robbing her of hundreds of dollars, the which, common sense might have told the jury she could not possess. Sing says the affair was managed and executed by Tan, who was jealous—that neither had any money to be robbed of. There is quite a deep feeling about the matter here, and I understand that a petition is to be forwarded to the Governor with the Judge's name heading the list. I dare not enter into a statement of my feelings, and can only characterize this proceeding as a burning disgrace before God and civilization.

We have had another robbery almost in our midst this week. The cabin of Stephen Baker was broken open and robbed of $50 in dust secreted about the premises. Baker feels confident that this was done by the Chinamen in his employ, and now feels certain that he is a loser directly from the boxes. He says he will watch and wait, and if his suspicions prove true he will furnish an item for the Courier.

Your paper arrives every Thursday. People up here say the mail agents are either knaves or fools. I repudiate the charge of fools—I found them quite intelligent on my way up.

I see Grant Taggart, of Shasta, has got the contract for carrying the mails to Red Bluff from Yolo. Am glad to hear it. Grant is a genial, good-hearted man and will do what he agrees to.

The great Family Medicine of the Age.

THIRTY YEARS

Have elapsed since the introduction of the Pain Killer to the public, and yet at the present time it is more popular and commands a larger sale than ever before. Its popularity is not confined to this country alone; all over the world its beneficial effects in curing the "ills that flesh is heir to," are acknowledged and appreciated, and as a Pain Killer its fame is limited to no country, sect nor race. It needs only to be known to be prized.

Thirty years is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1 per bottle. Directions accompany each bottle je11-1m

Probate Notice.

ESTATE OF THOMAS W. WOODLAND, DECEASED.

IN THE PROBATE COURT of the County of Yolo, California.—It appearing to the Court by the petition presented and filed by George E. Woodland, Administrator of the estate of Thomas W. Woodland, deceased, praying for an order to sell real estate, that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate to pay the allowances to Meta M. Woodland, minor heir, the debts outstanding against the deceased, and the debts, charges and expenses of administration; It is therefore ordered by the Court, that all persons interested in the said estate appear before the said Probate Court on the 18th day of July, A. D. 1870, at one o'clock P. M. of that day, at the Court Room of said Court, at Woodland, in the County of Yolo, to show cause why an order should not be granted to said Administrator to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased. And that a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks in the YOLO DEMOCRAT, a newspaper printed and published in said Yolo county.

Dated June 16, 1870. JAMES JOHNSON,

Town and County Matters.

[CORRESPONDENCE for this department is invited from all parts of the County.]

District Court Proceedings.

At the adjourned session of the District Court, Judge Ramage presiding, the following proceedings were had:

Matter of ontempt, C Day Beebe—Affidavits of E. Bynum, E. F. Boyle and Samuel Ruland introduced, and the defendant's answer filed.

Fiske & Messinger vs. Woodland School Trustees—Submitted to Court and decision withheld, with leave to the parties to file briefs in thirty days.

John Weir naturalized, on evidence of Geo. Farlin and M. P. Lamb.

J. M. Clanton vs. Cal. P. R. Co.—Judgment for plaintiff for $75, coin, with costs and stay of proceedings till August 15.

Henry Perry vs. Cal. P. R. R. Co.—Ordered to be stricken from the calendar and papers returned to the Court of Justice Mering.

C. Nelson vs. Cal. P. R. R. Co.—Judgment for $187 and costs. Stay of proceedings ten days.

J. W. Jacobs vs. John Plumer.—Jury of nine accepted. Verdict for plaintiff for $222 50. Stay of 30 days granted on filing bond.

Wristen vs. Friedlander and Dresbach.—After argument of motion to set aside default of Friedlander, the case was continued to next term.

Day Beebe's contempt case—Defendant found guilty and ordered to pay costs; also, ordered that a writ of restitution issue against him in favor of T. B. Hurlburt, with stay of proceedings for ten days.

Court adjourned till September 9th for a "law day," preparatory to the next regular term, which will commence on the 19th of September.

SIDE TRACK.—The increasing railroad business at this point has made it necessary to put down an additional side track on the east side of the railroad. This necessitated the removal of the temporary depot building farther south. In view of the large amount of freight and passenger traffic here, it would seem as though Woodland was entitled to a more decent passenger house. But we presume the Company is waiting till the branch road from here to Red Bluff is located, so as to accommodate both lines. While more business is done here than at any other point, except the termini of the road, we have the meanest building on the line.

A FIGHT.—Officers Henry and Lawson on Wednesday evening arrested a couple of belligerents who had been indulging their natural propensity (stimulated by too much whisky) for a free fight. They were pummeling each other at a great rate, but so far as could be seen no great quantity of blood was split. They gave their names as Patrick Kelley and Wm. Duffy. On being examined before Justice Peterson they were fined $20 each or ten days in jail. Duffy paid over the double eagle, but Kelley being minus the amount is serving his out in the lock-up.

METEOROLOGICAL.—The following is the range of the thermometer—morning, noon and evening—as kept by J. W. McCormick, for the week ending June 24th:

	Morn.	Noon.	Eve.	Av.
Saturday	71	90	81	84
Sunday	70	93	80	81
Monday	62	89	80	77
Tuesday	64	84	70	73
Wednesday	64	84	70	73
Thursday	68	91	84	81
Friday	70	92	84	82

THE DEDICATION BALL.—This, we learn, is to be a very grand affair on the coming Fourth, and our lovers of the mazy dance are looking forward to it in anticipation of a nice time. Professor Wood has completed his arrangements, and left nothing wanting to insure the success of the Dedication Ball. We expect to see the large new hall well filled with the beauty and fashion of Woodland and the region round about.

RACES AT THE LANDING.—On Friday and Saturday next, 1st and 2d of July, the great trot of four-year old Yolo County Colts will come off. There are six entries at $25 each to be added to the purse of $150. Race, one mile and repeat; three to start: best two to "saw off" on Saturday. This will cause quite a lively time, and doubtless will draw a big crowd of horse men and lovers of the turf to witness the sport.

ENTERPRISING.—The benefits of a liberal system of advertising are clearly seen in the case of Mr. C. Elliott, carriage and wagon maker, of this place He advertises not only in both the local papers, but also in Sacramento and Marysville, and the result is that besides supplying the home demand, frequent orders are received from both the above named places, always with satisfactory results.

VALUABLE FOWL.—A few days since Isidor Proulx killed a fine fat hen for his dinner, and in her crop was found a gold two-and-a-half piece and several other small bits of metal. Upon inquiry if he had any fowls for sale, we were informed by Mr. P. that he liked that breed pretty well and had none to spare. So our hopes of gain in that direction were dashed to atoms.

BROKE JAIL.—Two men escaped from the County Jail on Thursday night by boring through the thick composite floor and digging a hole through the brick wall. Their names are Dwight Griffin and Wm. Miller. They were imprisoned on a charge of robbery committed in this county some three months ago.

BEWARE!—Postmaster Ruggles has in several instances detected writing in newspapers mailed at his office. This, every one must know, is contrary to law, and if not stopped, the fines and penalties imposed by law will be enforced. So parties had better take warning.

BRASS BAND.—A brass band has been organized under the leadership of Mr. Paul Boulon, and is now practising for the Fourth. Mr. Boulon is a young man of a high order of musical talent, and we shall, under his leadership, be supplied with good music.

MORE MILLINERY GOODS.—Mrs. Price has just returned from the Bay with a nice assortment of millinery goods of all kinds suitable for the season, just in time for ladies to select before the Fourth.

TAKEN POSSESSION.—Sheriff Bullock has taken possession of his residence purchased some time ago from Professor Martin, furnished it in very nice style, and is now occupying it with his family.

INSURANCE.—We call attention to the card of the Continental Fire Insurance Company. The gentlemen whose names are appended as agents will do well by those who wish to insure, and the Continental is one of the best Companies.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—The tin-shop at Cacheville, heretofore owned by C. D. Morin of this place, has been sold to Oscar Dutton, who has had charge of the same during the past two years.

AUCTION.—Any one desiring to purchase household furniture can have a fine selection to choose from at the auction sale of Mrs. Jacobs, which commences at half-past ten this morning.

NEW BARBER SHOP.—Theodore Schumacher has opened a barber shop at his former stand, next to Dr. Ray's office, and invites his friends to give him a call.

Church Organization.

On Wednesday evening, according to announcement, a large number of our citizens assembled in the M. E. Church, by the kind permission of the Rev. Mr. Damon and Trustees, to form a new Congregational Church. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity. The new congregation, which numbers about 60 members, took seats around the pulpit. Dr. Stone, who was announced to deliver the address, was unable to attend, he being obliged to go to Oregon on important business connected with the church. After singing a beautiful hymn by a well-trained choir, suitable for the occasion, and prayer by Rev. Mr. Damon, Dr. J. E. Dwinelle, of Sacramento, delivered a most eloquent sermon. In the course of his remarks he gave a brief sketch of Congregationalism, this being the 250th year of its advent in America, the year on which the Pilgrim Fathers first landed on that bleak and desolate coast. Rev. Mr. Warren, a gentleman recently from the East, in an able address, welcomed the newly-formed church, and gave them the hand of fellowship, telling them that this being the jubilee year they were highly honored to become members at such an eventful time. After remarks made by Rev. Mr. Brier, of Dixon, in which he gave a sketch of his Western life, and the new church partaking of the Sacrament, the Doxology was sung, the meeting separated all seeming well pleased with the interesting ceremony.

WHO WANTS A NEW SEWING MACHINE? Persons in want of a sewing machine can be accommodated with either the Wheeler & Wilson, Florence, New Weed, Howe or the Elliptic, on reasonable terms, at agents' prices, by applying to N. Elliott. All these are first-class machines.

A FINE STOCK.—Call and see Smith & Brogan's extensive furniture establishment. They have by far the largest stock ever offered in this market, and are selling the same at less than Sacramento prices.

AMPUTATED.—A man, whose name we did not learn, had his leg amputated the other day at the County Hospital. At last accounts he was doing well.

Drawing—Burgess' National system. (Adopted July 6, 1869; will go into use July 1, 1870.)

NOTE.—All books adopted June 8th, 1866, will expire July 1, 1870, but will remain in use unless superseded by some other books adopted by the State Board of Education. Several mistakes having been made in the State Series of Text-Books, as printed on pages 39 and 40, this corrected list is herewith presented.

OUR DEMOCRATIC SENATOR.—The New York Atlas pays the following tribute to California's Democratic Senator:

The ablest and most consistent advocate on the floor of Congress, of the rights and interests of the working classes, is Senator Eugene Casserly, of California. His recent speeches in opposition to the Funding Bill and the National banks, in favor of keeping the public lands for the people, instead of giving them to gigantic railroad corporations, in support of the eight-hour law, and in defence of the Democracy of this city, all breathe an enlightened spirit of patriotism and genuine republicanism. The champions of liberty are so few now in the upper chamber of the Federal Legislature that the moral courage and intellectual brilliancy of those who still uphold the standard of popular rights there shine forth all the more resplendently.

A YOUNG lady out West, named Caroline Frederick, aged fifteen, measures five feet and half an inch in circumference under the arms, and two feet one and half an inch around her leg just below the knee. Her weight is four hundred and sixty-two pounds.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Business men, worn by care and sedentary habits, often suffer from constipation of the bowels, until the evil consequences of such a condition are realized in extreme debility, nervousness and prostration of the vital energies of the system; and it may be safely asserted that a majority of the female sex are little better than invalids, from the same cause; but by using Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, this natural aperient and tonic brings back the vigor and buoyancy of health.

A Circus Band Precipitated into a Den of Lions.

THREE PERSONS KILLED.

[From the Middletown (Kan.) Banner, June 14.]

The usually quiet little village of Middletown was thrown into a painful fever of excitement on Thursday morning by an awful catastrophe, which occurred in the band lately attached to James Robinson's circus and animal show, and led by professor M. C. Sexton.

Upon starting out from Cincinnati for the season, the management determined to produce something novel in the way of a band chariot, and conceived the idea of mounting the band upon the colossal den of Numedian lions, and which would form one of the principal and most imposing features of the show. Although repeatedly warned by Professor Sexton that he deemed the cage insecure and dangerous in the extreme, the managers still persisted in compelling the band to ride upon it.

Nothing, however, occurred until Thursday morning. The band took their places, and the procession commenced to move amid the shouts of the multitude of rustics who had assembled to witness the grand pageant, and hear the enlivening strains of music. Not a thought of danger was entertained by any one, but the awful catastrophe was about to occur. As the driver endeavored to make the turn in the streets, the leaders became entangled and threw the entire team into confusion. The driver lost control of them, and, becoming frightened, they broke into a violent run, the fore wheel of the cage coming in contact with a large rock with such force as to cause the braces and stanchions which supported the roof to give way, thereby precipitating the entire band into the awful pit below. For an instant the vast crowd were paralyzed with fear, but for a moment only, and then arose such a shriek of agony as was never heard before. The awful groans of terror and agony which arose from the poor victims who were being torn and lacerated by the frightful monsters below was heartrending and sickening to a terrible degree.

Every moment some one of the band would extricate himself from the debris and leap over the sides of the cage to the ground with a wild spring of terror, and faint away upon striking the earth, so great was his terror. But human nature could not stand and see men literally devoured before their very eyes, for there were willing hearts and strong arms ready to render every assistance necessary to rescue the unfortunate victims of this shocking calamity. A hardware store which happened to stand opposite was invaded, and pitchforks, crow-bars and long bars of iron, and, in fact, every available weapon, were brought into requisition; the side doors were quickly torn from their fastenings, and then a horrible sight was presented to view. Mingled among the brilliant uniforms of the unfortunate victims lay legs and arms torn from their sockets and half devoured, while the savage brutes stared ferociously with their sickly, green colored eyes upon the petrified crowd. Professor Charles White arriving at this moment, gave orders in regard to extricating the dead and wounded, he well knowing that it would be a difficult and dangerous undertaking to remove them from the infuriated monsters. Stationing men with forks and bars at every available point, he sprang fearlessly into the den amid the savage monsters, and commenced raising the wounded and passing them upon the outside to their friends.

He had succeeded in removing the wounded and was proceeding to gather up the remains of the lifeless, when the mammoth lion known to showmen as Old Nero, sprang with a frightful roar upon his keeper, fastening his teeth and claws into his neck and shoulders, lacerating him in a horrible manner. Professor White made three herculean efforts to shake the monster off, but without avail, and gave orders to fire upon him. The contents of four Colt's navys were immediately poured into the carcass of the ferocious animal, and he fell dead; and the brave little man, notwithstanding the fearful manner in which he was wounded, never left the cage until every vestige of the dead were carefully gathered together and placed upon a sheet preparitory for burrial. It was found that three of the ten who mounted the cage a short time before were killed outright, and four others terribly lacerated. The names of the killed were August Schoer, Conrad Freeiz and Charles Greiner. Coffins were procured and an immediate burrial determined upon, as the bodies were so frightfully torn and lacerated as to be unrecognizable by their most intimate friends.

It was a melancholy day for Middletown, and a sadder day for the friends and companions of the deceased. Of the multitude who started out in the morning with anticipations of a glad holliday, few left for their homes with dry eyes after the tripple funeral, for the entire community followed the remains to the quiet little village cemetery. At midnight the carcass of the slain beast was quietly burried on the lot where was intended to be given the exhibition; but which was never accomplished. There is a terrible responsibility resting upon some one which should be thoroughly investigated, and the guilty parties be brought to a quick and speedy punishment. The lions are the same ones which nearly cost Professor Charles White his life two years ago, while traveling with the Thayer & Noyes party, and were known to be a very dangerous cage of animals. Every attention is being given the sufferers by the kind and hospitable citizens of Middletown, and it is to be hoped they will soon recover from their wounds. At last accounts they were all pronounced out of danger.

Believing that every man should be held personally responsible for whatever he offers to the public as an antidote for any existing evil, and that no honest man can, for the sake of gain, offer as a remedy that which may prove an injury, we shall say no more than we believe to be strictly true, and easily proved, in relation to the merits of

Newell's Pulmonary Syrup!

We have known it for many years as a valuable remedy in all Pulmonary Complaints. It has been given to a great number of persons, old and young, male and female, and it can be truly said that rarely, if ever, was known a single instance in which it has not effected a speedy cure of the most violent cold or long-seated cough; and, in case of Asthma, whooping-cough, sore throat, or any affection of the throat or lungs, we have yet to hear of the first instance in which it has not afforded entire satisfaction. We do not pretend to say that

Newell's Pulmonary Syrup

Is a remedy for "all the ills that flesh is heir to," but we do say that, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, it has been found to be a safe, pleasant, and sovereign remedy for the most violent cold, long-neglected cough, sore throat, asthma, whooping-cough, or any affection of the throat or lungs arisng, as almost all such complaints do, from what is at first considered nothing but a "slight cold"—the final consequences of which need not be pointed out. Prominent, however, among the ills thus engendered, is that of Consumption, for which it is said there is no remedy, and perhaps there is not. But if

Newell's Pulmonary Syrup,

Which we so strongly recommend, be a remedy for such complaints as we have enumerated, what effect will it have upon that scourge of the human race, CONSUMPTION? We answer, it will be to afford its victims immediate relief! It will check the ever-accompanying cough; this done, refreshing sleep is sure to follow, and, in its train, increase of strength, a brighter eye, a more cheerful countenance—and, why not a restoration to health? CURE YOUR COLD while it is yet what you consider but a slight one, and you will have less occasion to seek a remedy for any of the countless ills so sure to follow from it when too long neglected. Cure it in your children, instead of allowing them to retire to their beds night after night with a SLIGHT COLD, from which almost every family has had sad experience; they too often rise with headache, sore throat, or fever.

A kind Providence has placed at the disposal of His intelligent creatures, all the remedies requisite for the relief of such diseases as He permits to afflict mankind. Among the gravest in this category are those of the CHEST and LUNGS. A thorough and patient investigation into the character and treatment of these affections, has resulted in the selection and approval, by the more intelligent of the present day, of

Newell's Pulmonary Syrup,

The use of which is synonymous with speedy relief and health. Consumptives, try it! For sale by all Druggists.

THE NEW YORKER.

SELF-RAKING

REAPER AND MOWER

— AND —

SELF-RAKING REAPER.

Reasons Why

YOU SHOULD USE THIS MACHINE!

First.

No man can rake by hand with the perfection that the NEW YORKER does.

Second.

The Rake is entirely under the control of the Driver, and will rake any size of gavel desired.

Third.

The Machine is Light, requiring but two Horses, and saves extra draft and the expense of one man.

Fourth.

The New Yorker has no superior as a Reaper or Mower, and no equal as a self-Raker, and is warranted in every particular, and to perform well in every capacity, being built upon the only correct principle for a Self-Raker.

Fifth.

The Reaper Cuts Six Feet, the Reaper and Mower Five Feet, and never fails to give satisfaction as a Reaper, a Mower, or Self-Raker, and whenever requisite the change from Reaper to Mower is easily and rapidly effected.

Sixth.

Each Machine is set up at the Factory and worked by steam to see that all runs accurately and easy.

AS A REAPER

This Machine will Cut and Rake from Twelve to Eighteen Acres of Grain per day, and

AS A MOWER,

THE "NEW YORKER"

Cannot be excelled by even those Machines built exclusively for Mowing, and will cut from eight to twelve acres per day.

SLATER, Democratic Congressman from Oregon, is elected by about 300 majority.

$10,651,117 06 worth of revenue stamps were sold by the Bureau during the month of May.

NAPOLEON JEROME BONAPATE died at Baltimore recently, aged sixty-five Mrs. Williams, his mother-in-law, died the same day.

DURING the time in which the luxury of a Freedman's Bureau was indulged in, it cost the magnificent sum of $13,-500,000. We are thankful it is no more.

THE California and Oregon Railroad Company have reduced the pay of their Chinese employees from $26 and $30 to $21 per month, the men finding themselves.

IT seems probable from Commissioner Delano's estimates, that the Internal Revenue for the present fiscal year will amount to one hundred and seventy-five million dollars.

A TOWN in Plumas county has been named "Shoo-Fly City." Its people ought to be pestered with horse flies and gallinippers until they give the place a more Christian name.

THE Assessors place the value of all property in the State at $240,000,000, but the Bulletin contends that San Francisco alone has property within her borders worth $300,000,000.

ONE of the greatest and most destructive fires that ever occurred in any city has just been subdued in Constantinople. It is reported that 7,000 houses were destroyed, and that perhaps three hundred people lost their lives. A rough estimate of the total loss of property is twenty-five millions of pounds sterling.

IN a little town out West, a lady teacher was exercising a class of juveniles in mental arithmetic. She commenced the question, "If you buy a cow for ten dollars—" when up came a little hand. "What is it, Johnny?" "Why you can't buy no kind of a cow for ten dollars; father sold one for sixty dollars the other day, and she was a regular old scrub at that!"

THE consumption of wood in the United States is enormous. Railway sleepers alone require 150,000 acres of the best timber every year. The annual expenditure in wood for railway buildings, repairs and cars is $38,500,-000. The locomotives in the United States consume annually $56,000,000 worth of wood. The wood industry amounts to $500,000,000. There are 400,000 artisans in wood.

THE Charleston, South Carolina News reports that there was in that city a few days ago a colored man, who, during the closing days of the war, was tried by a drum head court martial, found guilty, sentenced to death, duly hanged and pronounced dead by two surgeons in attendance, one of whom secured the body and then restored him to life. The News adds that the man hid himself until the war was over, and then settled on a farm within thirteen miles of the city, where he is now at work, and that the surgeon is now a resident of Charleston.

AT the late reunion of the Illinois Fourteenth Regiment, a letter from Senator Yates was read, in which he said that although far away from them, he shed a sincere tear for the noble dead of the Regiment, who sleep in patriotic and immortal graves on so many fields of glory. In conclusion he said: "If we, the people of the United States, shall faithfully secure to ourselves and our children the real objects for which the war was fought, then the blood of our soldiers will not be on our hands. Otherwise, I say, God save the Republic, and save us—myself, one and all—from the agency we have had in it."

HOUSTON, Texas, papers describe a factory where beeves are killed, the meat roasted and then packed for shipment. Here is what is said about the oven where the roasting is done: The oven will hold eight or ten steers at a time, and will roast twenty a day. The buildings are calculated for one hundred beeves a day, and space has been left for more ovens like the one constructed. It is intended to increase the business as fast as market can be created for the meat. On the premises purchased there are sites just as convenient as this one, for nine more establishments of the same size, and will be increased as fast as a market can be found for the roast beef, up to one thousand cattle a day, or any number that can be sold, up to that amount.

REMEDY FOR LOCKJAW.—A writer in the Scieutific American says: Let any one who has an attack of lockjaw take a small quantity of spirits of turpentine, warm it and pour it into the wound—no matter what the wound is, or what its nature is—and relief will follow in less than one minute. Nothing better can be applied to a severe cut or bruise than cold turpentine; it will give certain relief almost instantly. Turpentine is also a sovereign remedy for croup. Saturate a piece of flannel with it, and place the flannel on the throat and chest, in very severe cases, three to five drops on a lump of sugar may be taken inwardly. Every family should have a bottle of turpentine on hand.

THE BRANNAN DIVORCE CASE.—It will be recollected that a suit was commenced a few weeks since by Ann Lisa Brannan against Samuel Brannan, in the Fourth District Court, to obtain a divorce. She also moved for an injunction to prevent him from disposing of the common property. The defendant has now filed an affidavit in the Fourth District Court in support of a motion to have the injunction modified. In it he says that his property is worth $600,-000, and that his indebtedness is $400,-000, secured by notes and mortgages; that his monthly income is $5,000, and that all of it is absorbed in paying interest on his debts. He declares that if he is enjoined from the ordinary use of his property it will be utterly destroyed, and both plaintiff and himself will be deprived of means.—Bulletin.

NEVER "KNOCK UNDER."—No, never. Always rally your forces for another and more desperate assault upon adversity. If calumny assail you, and the world—as it is apt to do in such cases—takes part with your traducers, don't grow moody and misanthropic, or, worse still, seek to drown your unhappiness in dissipation. Bide your time. Disprove the slander if you can; if not, live it down. If poverty comes upon you like a thief in the night, what then! Let it rouse you, as the presence of a real thief would do, to energetic action. No matter how deeply you may have got into hot water—always provided you did not help the father of lies to heat it—your case, if you are made of the right sort of stuff, is not desperate, for it is in accord with the Divine order and sweep of things, that life should have no difficulties which an honest, determined man, with Heaven's help, cannot surmount.

ADDRESS

To the Nervous & Debilitated,

Whose sufferings have been protracted from hidden causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable: If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is there a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushing of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant, the bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits of melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights—your back weak, your knees weak, and but little appetite—and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic persevering successful business men are always those whose generative organs are perfect health? Such men never complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflated by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men, from badly cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of posterity, depends upon the prompt use of a reliable remedy.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu, established upward of 19 years, prepared by H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist, 494 Broadway, New York, and 104 South Tenth street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6,50, delivered to any address. Sold by all Druggists everywhere.

NONE ARE GENUINE UNLESS DONE UP in steel engraved wrapper, with fac simile of my Chemical Warehouse, and signed

THE HOWE MACHINE CO.'S

WORLD RENOWNED

SEWING MACHINES!

Paris Exposition Universelle, 1867,

TWO GRAND PRIZES,

Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor,

To ELIAS HOWE, JR., as the inventor; and Gold Medal for the best Sewing Machine!

The Highest Honors Ever Conferred for Sewing Machines.

This Machine has long been regarded as the standard of excellence, and has become celebrated the world over. The work done by these Machines is unsurpassed—sewing the thinnest muslin or the thickest cloth, with equal facility; and requiring no extra adjusting for uneven thickness or passing over seams: it turns its own hem as it sews, sewing a seam stronger than the fabric itself. To see it hem, fell, tuck, braid, cord, quilt and gather, it seems more like a thing of life than a machine moved by the will of the operator. It is capable of doing every description of sewing that is required in a family; and also for seamstresses and dressmakers it will be found invaluable. They seldom, or never give any trouble in operating, and in a word, are the most satisfactory Sewing Machines in use.
Notwithstanding their great superiority, they are sold at prices as low as other first-class machines.
A Medallion likeness of Mr. Howe is embedded in the plates of every Howe Machine, without which none are genuine. Every purchaser of a Sewing Machine should inquire for ELIAS HOWE, JR.'S SEWING MACHINE, and if they are not sold in their vicinity, address the General Agency for Illustrated Circulars, etc., and do not purchase until you have thoroughly investigated these renowned machines.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

—FOR—

Diseases of the Throat & Lungs,

Such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat that the most obstinate yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and public speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Billious Fever, &c., and in all the affections which arise from malarious, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does cure, and does not fail. Containing neither arsenic, quinine, bismuth, zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.
Unacclimated persons, either resident in or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the Ague Cure daily.
For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the liver into healthy activity.
For Billous Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

NEW WEED
SEWING MACHINES!

"The Last and Best!"

The following is the fac-simile of the Medal awarded to the WEED Sewing Machines at the late Paris Exposition:

The Weed Sewing Machine Company have now at last completed their Three Standard styles of Weed Sewing Machines.

First—Their new "Family Favorite." Second—Their new, light and noiseless Manufacturers' Sewing Machine. Thirdly—Their immense heavy "Manufacturers' Favorite." The three together combining the advantages of all others up to the present time, being the BEST made and doing the best work—has received throughout Europe, the States, and on this coast, the First and Highest Premium at each and every public Fair since 1867 (the year it was completed,) where any premium at all has been given or where its strong points have been really exhibited.
There is a difference!—All the Premiums that the WEED Sewing Machine Company claim, from the first and Highest Premium at the Great World's Fair at Paris, in 1867, up to the present time, (see small circulars), are each and every one genuine awards, or we will forfeit $500 for each and every false claim! Other Sewing Machines have had their Premiums, but how many of them in the last two years?
There is a difference! Says the True Chronicle: "This magnificent Sewing Machine comes forward in good time and strikes exactly the right mark." Also, the editor of the Independent says: "Such a Sewing Machine as the Weed—the New F. F.—we have never seen." Thus the New Weed Sewing Machine is the simplest and strongest, the last, and as we believe in modern improvement we may add the BEST Sewing Machine made as yet. It is the best Family Sewing Machine; it is the best Boot, Tailor, Saddler's Sewing Machine; it is the most successful Sewing Machine! for already its name is a household word both in Europe and America, and is rapidly taking the place of all others. Its immense central manufactory is in Hartford, Connecticut. Agents in all the principal cities in the world.

Price, from $65 to $500.

Bear testimony to the wonderful curative effects of

Dr. Joseph Walker's
CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Manufactured from the native Herbs and Roots of California.

The Great Blood Purifier!

For Inflammatory and chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Billous Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the digestive organs.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
"The life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof." Purify the Blood and the health of the whole system will follow. It is a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic.
These Bitters are not a gilded Pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and destroyed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Hair Dressing,

Prepared by DR. J. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Massachusetts. Price, $1.
☞ Sold by all Druggists and dealers in Medicines everywhere. Crane & Bingham, San Francisco, R. H. McDonald & Co., Sacramento, wholesale agents. au14-1y

WHEELER & WILSON.

THE GREAT TRIAL OF

SEWING MACHINES!

THE GRANDEST IN THE WORLD!

The Judges, the whole world; and the trial, fifteen years duration.

Practical Use the Test!

THE UNIVERSAL VERDICT:
"The Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine the Champion!"

As a Holiday Present, nothing would be more appreciated than one of these Machines.

These unequalled Machines do all the different kinds of work required to be done in a family, and make all the different kinds of Stitches, without the complications of the other Machines.
All persons will please examine the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine before purchasing any other.
The Wheeler & Wilson as is well known, has won at nearly every trial in which it has competed, the highest award of merit. The representatives of other machines, ever confident, have entered the lists, time and again, only to be defeated; and finding it impossible to compete fairly, have endeavored to decry the value of Premiums. They are not slow, however, to boast of the few they have received. But in the grand trial, daily use throughout the world, where only true merit finds favor, and superiority wins the race, the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine stands triumphantly the champion by the verdict of the people.
These Machines are adapted to every Variety of Sewing!
From the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths. They work equally well upon Silk, Linen, Woolen or Cotton goods, with Silk, Linen or Cotton thread: Seaming, Quilting, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Cording, Tucking, Braiding Embroidering and making Button Holes, with the greatest facility.
If it be inconvenient for the purchaser to visit the salesroom, the order may be forwarded to the office, and it will be as faithfully filled as if the selection had been made personally.
Full instructions, recently compiled, and giving full information upon every point in detail, accompany each Machine, and enable the most inexperienced to operate without difficulty.
Our interest in the successful working of Machines is not second to that of the purchaser, and we esteem it a privilege to aid, by correspondence or otherwise, any person requiring it.

THE ELLIPTIC
SEWING MACHINES,

Warranted the Best!

The Elliptic Sewing Machines are manufactured and warranted by the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company. The late and important improvements enable us to guarantee to every purchaser that the Elliptic Machine will do more work, better work, and a greater variety of work than any other Sewing Machine now in use. The economy of the Elliptic Machine in a family is almost incredible: with one, a good operator can do the work of twelve hands. By it, the making of garments is reduced from a question of hours to one of minutes, as the following table will show:
(It is not to be understood that the following table is the time to make garments, but to do the stitching only.)
